- 1. Troop exercise camps were set up throughout the Keczel area in the summer of 1951. One of these camps is on the road from Keczel to Császártöltés, some 5 km. southwest of Keczel, in a forest. This was an artillery camp. The other of these camps was in the grove on the highway from Keczel to Oregosertő. It is uncertain what troops were encamped here, but some tanks were observed.
- 2. Northwest of Keczel, north of the Kiskörös-Kalocsa road, is an airfield which was planned by the Russians in 1945. Work is described as having been begun only in the fall of 1951. Near this airfield is a new gunnery range, where experimental firings take place under the direction of the Military Technical Institute.
- 3. About 1 km. from Kiskörös, south of the road to Soltvadkert, a new barracks compound was built in the fall of 1950. It is now occupied by a battalion of motorized artillery. About 1 km. east of these barracks, new ones were begun in the summer of 1951.*
- 4. East of Kalocsa, on the road to Kiskörös, the former infantry barracks is being enlarged and garages are being built. About 500 m. farther east of this another barracks compound is being constructed, consisting of three large buildings.
 - * Enclosure: Sketch of the barracks near Kiskoros.
